

CATHARINE SUSAN

IN HOT

WATER

by Kathleen Clinshie

Catharine Susan
in
Hot Water

by

Kathleen Ainslie

Castell Brothers, Ltd.
London.

New York - Frederick Stokes Company.
Designed in England. Printed in Bavaria.

*Oh, you want to hear
what Maria and me
did when we was
littler?*

"What shall we tell them"--

Well — one day we got
up most awfully soon —
'cos we thought about
those big peaches
on the wall —

Oh! such a cold dip!

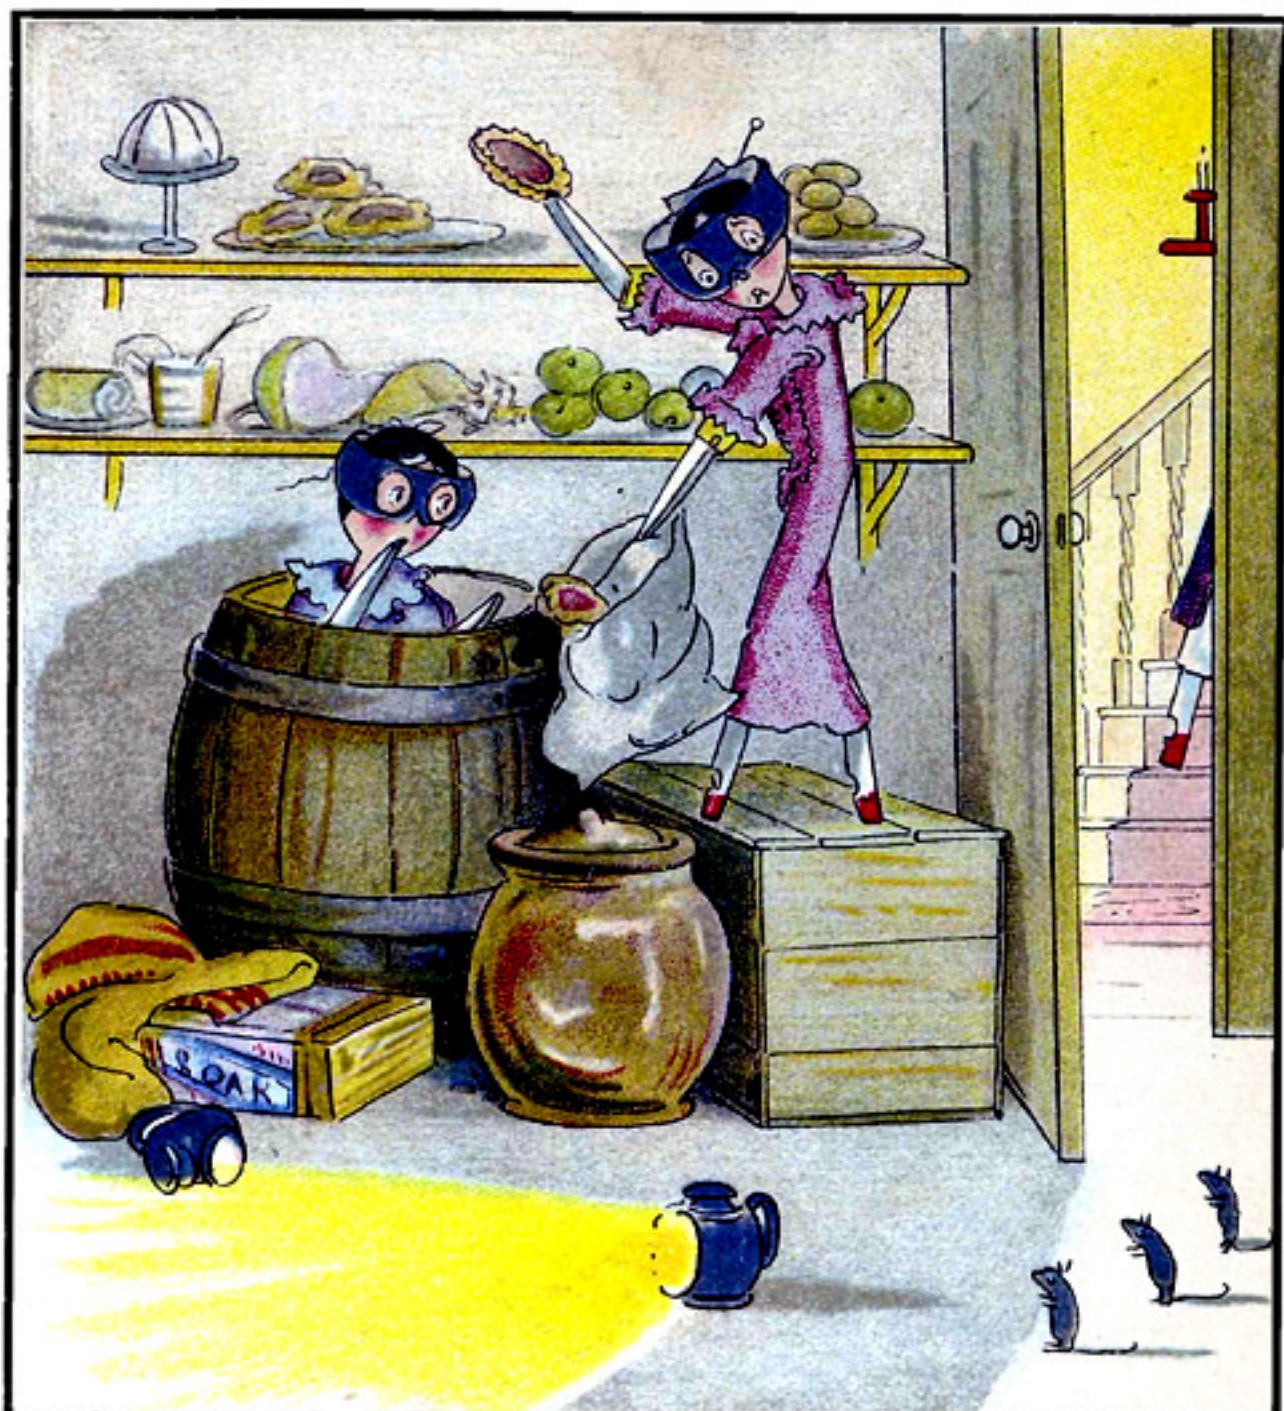

"Quick, Maria, gardener's coming!"

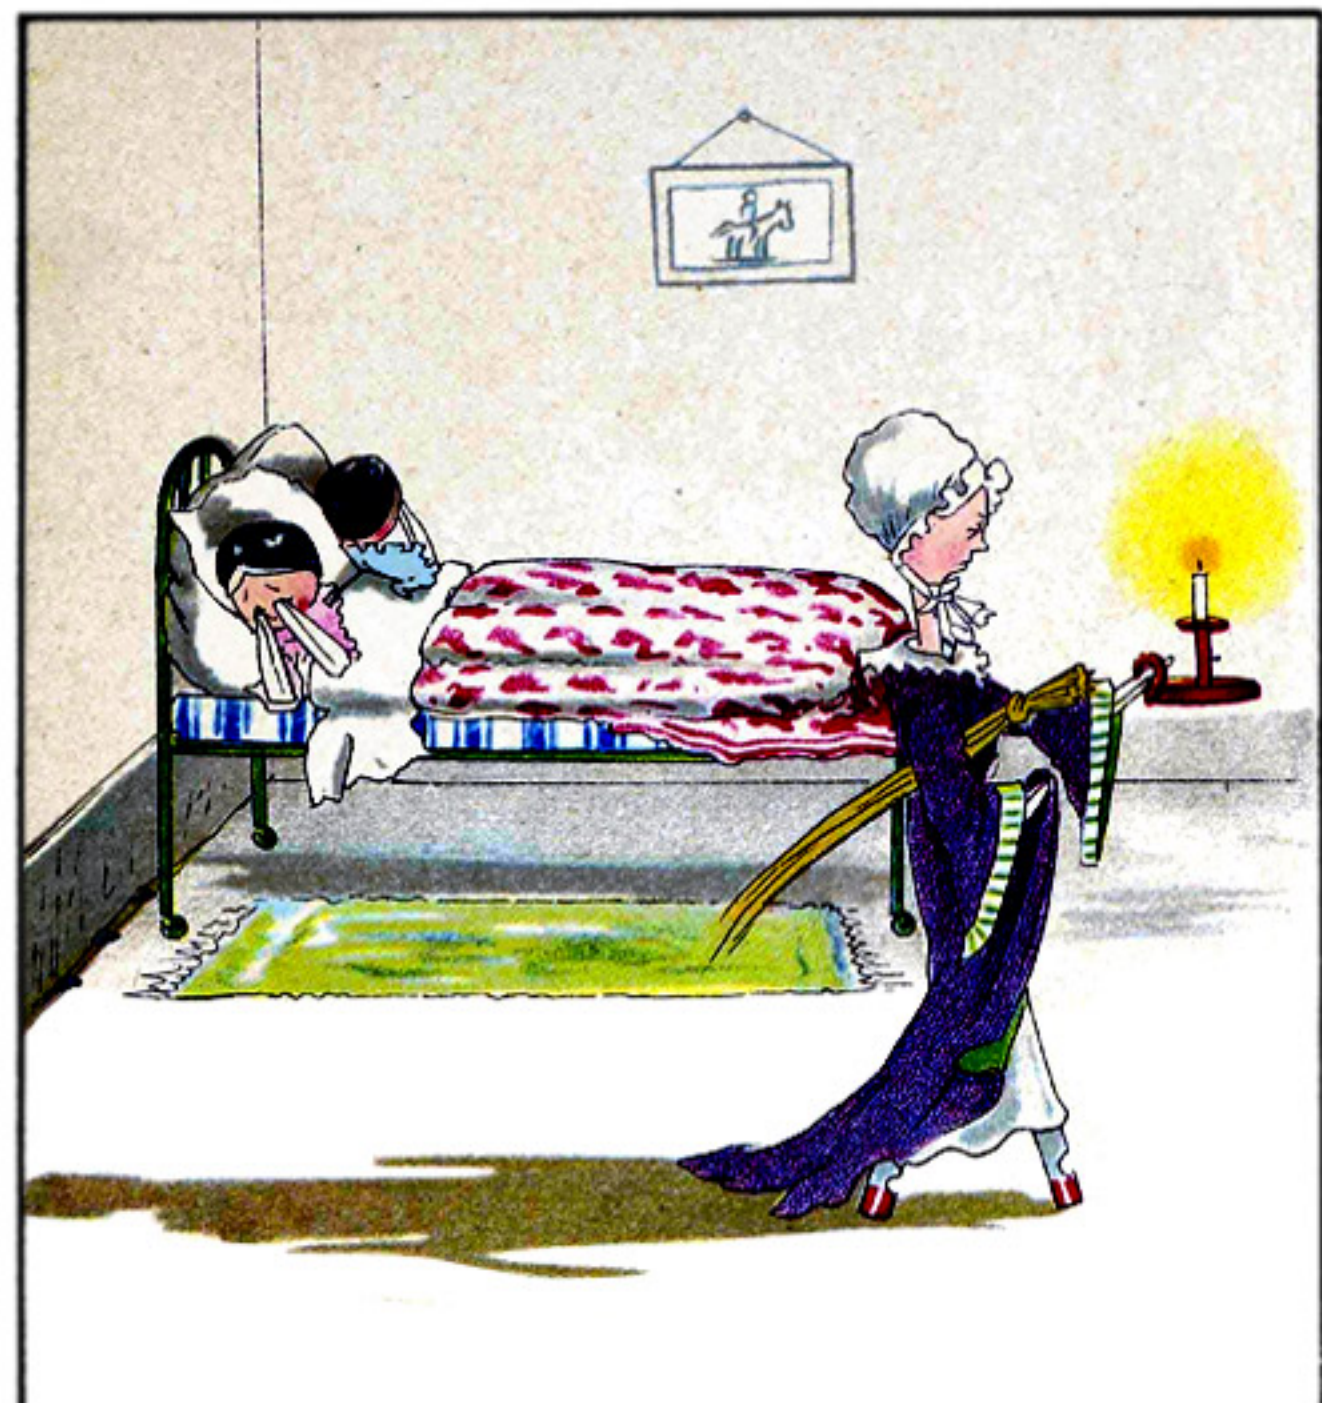

Well — that horrid
dog woke up too —
— old gardener
heard him —

Oh! he was unkind
to us —
and Father said
"Serve them right!"

They got into the larder—
Sh-u-u-u— she cometh!!!

And that was the end of that!

Well - another day we wanted some treacle for toffee - Maria was awfully
sorry about the shopwoman's
toothache -

so I took the treacle -
not to trouble her -

but -

Oh! you naughty, naughty girl!

it broke! _!_!
_ all over me _ _ _
and it is a most awful
trouble when you can't get it off in time! _!_

"Oh! do be quick, Maria—do"

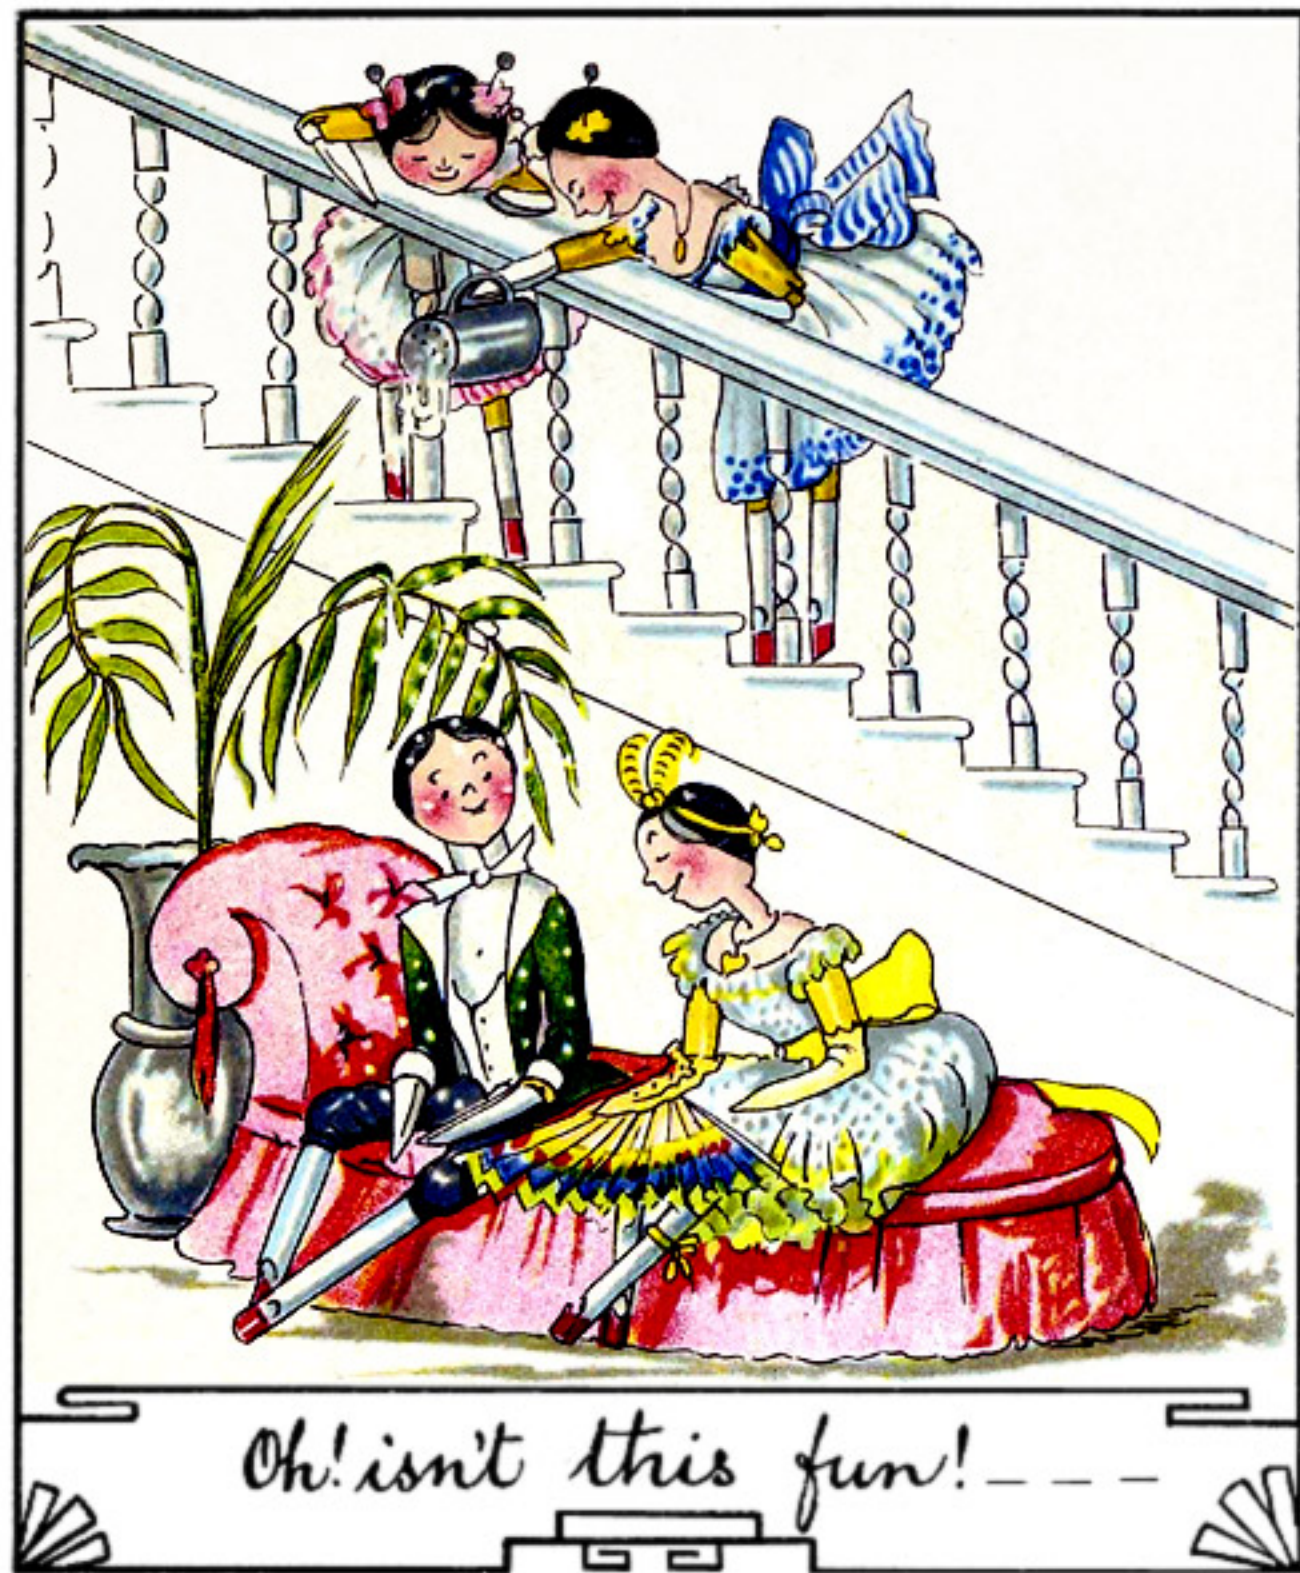

and the shopman got
an old cushion full of
feathers — and rolled me
over and over — — —
and it all stuck — — —
Oh!

horrid! —!

No! I don't pity you!

Well — another day at our party we thought we would make a snowstorm to amuse two of our cousins — — —

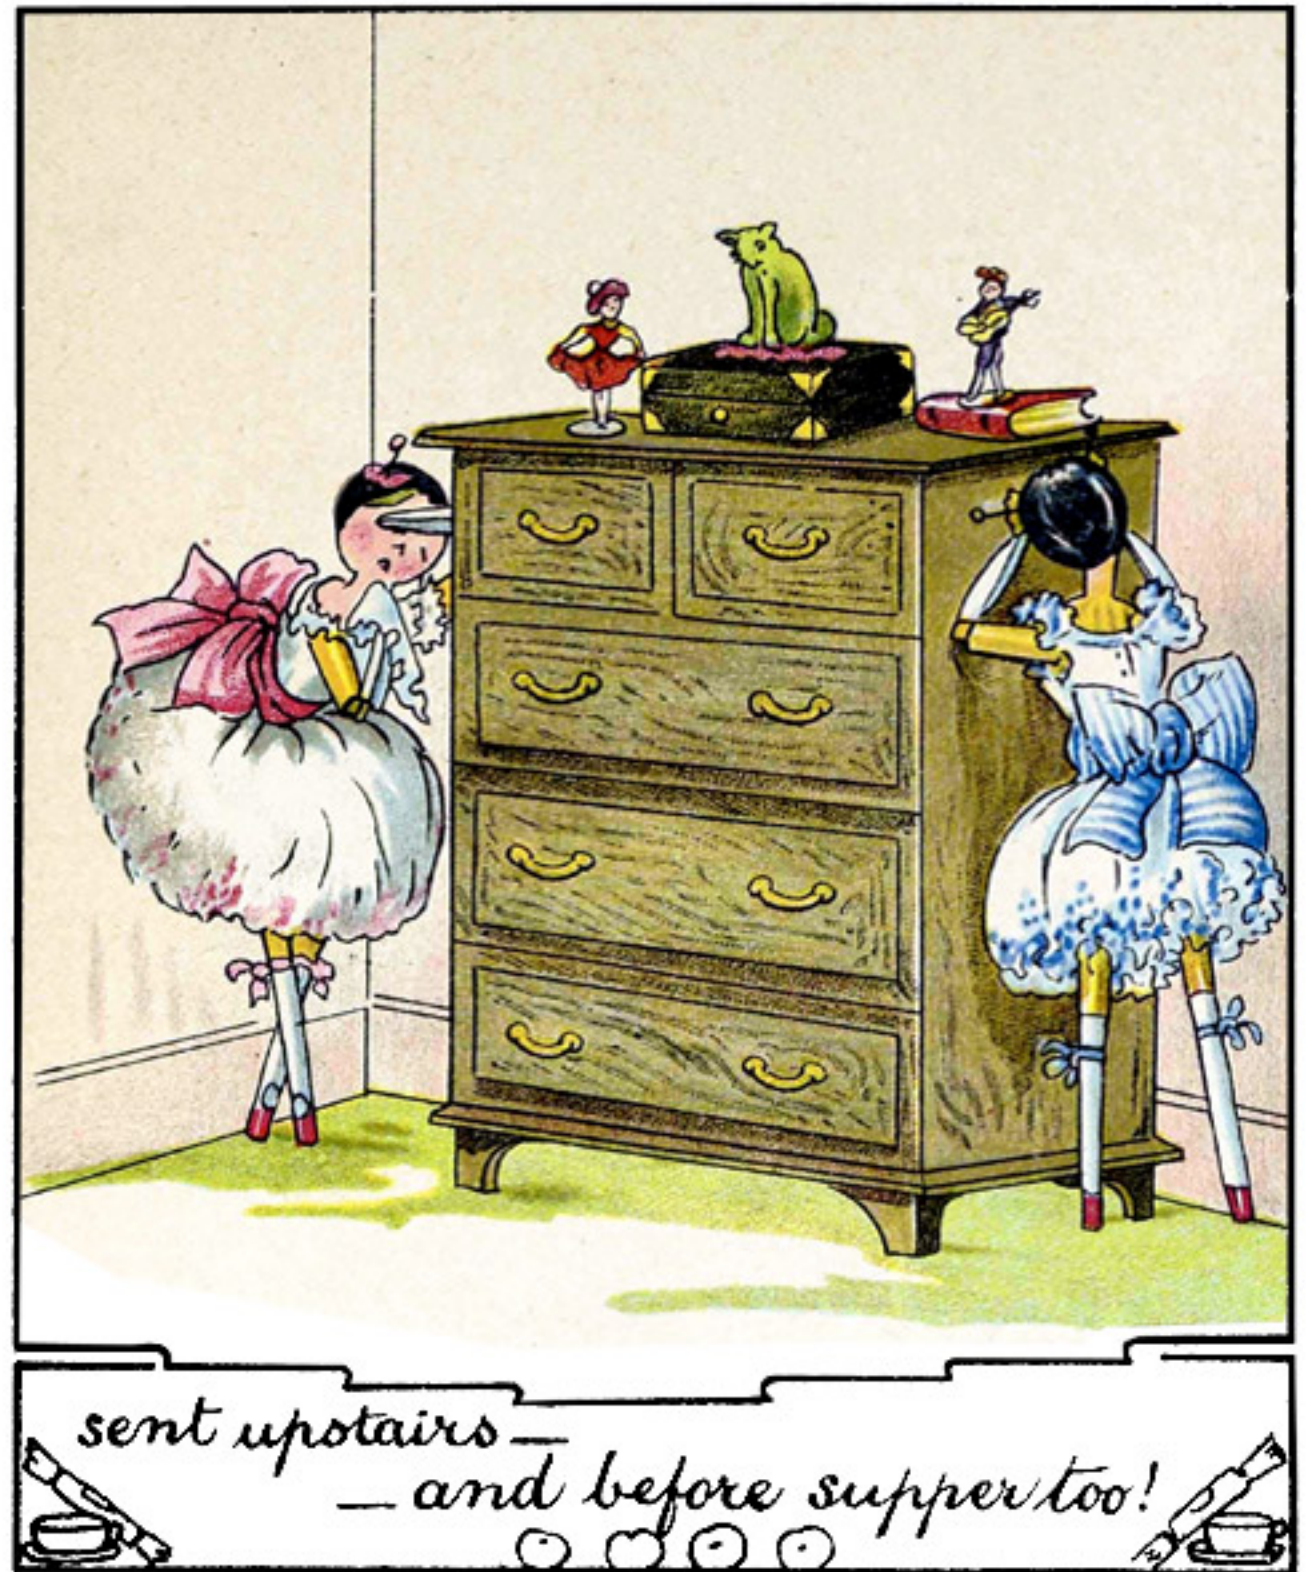

but we didn't succeed — quite

-----

Well — we've told you lots of our
naughtinesses
but there's lots of nice sorts
of adventures we can tell
you

next time
Goodbye.

an ebook published by Project Gutenberg Australia